management. Mosaic's regularly conducts stakeholder management seminars and training sessions throughout the USA, Europe and Asia.

- Project planning and scheduling including consultancy and mentoring. Clients and projects have ranged from small commercial and residential developments through to major icons such as the New Parliament House, Canberra and the $½ Billion Myer Centres in Brisbane and Adelaide. As well as construction projects, Patrick and the Mosaic team have specialist skills in aircraft maintenance scheduling, mine site and industrial plant construction and shutdowns and the management of information technology and telecommunications projects.
- Advising on the development of internal project management and business management systems including assisting with the development implementation and support of Project and Program Offices.
- Assisting with dispute resolution and claims management, including claims preparation and analysis both as a consultant and as an Expert Witness (including preparation and presentation of evidence for court and Adjudication hearings). Patrick Weaver is a graded Arbitrator, a trained Mediator and an experienced Negotiator.
- Providing planning and schedule control services to specific projects including resource optimisation and Earned Value Management.

Achievements

Patrick has over thirty five years experience in the Project Management and Construction industries. His career was initially focused on the planning and managing of construction, engineering and infrastructure projects. The last twenty years has seen Patrick's businesses, and experience, expand to include the successful delivery of project scheduling services and PMOs in a range of government, ICT and business environments. The third key element of Mosaic's current business mix, project management training, has been developed in the last decade with Mosaic now being commissioned to deliver training courses and seminars around the world.

Some of Patrick Weaver's major achievements include:

- Member CIOB time Management working group responsible for publishing the Guide to Good Practice in the Management of Time in Complex Projects and developing the CIOB Time Management certification framework.
- Being President of the Chartered Institute of Building Australasia from 2006 to 2008 and being invited to participate in the development of CIOB's new international governance structure.
- Developing a range of successful training courses and workshops for PMI accreditation (PgMP, PMP and CAPM) as well as a range of advanced project management topics including risk, schedule and EV courses.
- Being part of the Doyles Construction Lawyers legal team responsible for successfully managing two of the largest claims made by a builder under the Australian Securities of Payment legislation.
- Providing on-going scheduling, resource management and Earned Value expertise to assist in the development of the VIPER aircraft maintenance management system. Over the last 15 years this system and its predecessors is credited with saving the Royal Australian Air Force many millions of dollars in maintenance costs and is currently being used by Qantas Defence Services and Boeing Australia Ltd.
- Managing the scheduling team for the successful Optus Y2K project, including developing systems and integrating a team of 12 planners to support the overall Y2K program.

- Construction scheduling for a wide range of projects including the new Brisbane International Airport terminal and the expansion of the Sydney International Airport terminal (both projects were completed on schedule), New Parliament House, Canberra and the Myer Centres in Adelaide and Brisbane.
- Providing schedule support and training for planners working on the construction of the Collins Class Submarine project.
- Providing schedule support and consultancy on a number of remote area mine developments and process plant upgrades including Oakey Creek (coal), Mt. Isa (lead and zinc), Rocky's Reward (nickel) and Stawell (gold).

In the last few years, Patrick has sought to 'give back' to the industry he has participated in since leaving college and has contributed to both the development of the project management profession and enhancing professionalism in the building industry. In addition to his committee roles in the CIOB, he was actively involved in the PMI volunteer teams developing the PMBOK Guide, the Organizational Project Management Maturity Model, the Practice Standard for Earned Value and the Practice Standard for Scheduling and has contributed to the Standards for Program and Portfolio Management. He is currently a 'working group' leader within the Australian mirror-committee supporting the development of the new ISO 21500: Guide to Project Management.

Patrick has presented papers at a wide range of project management conferences in the USA, Europe, Asia and Australia, has been part of the organising committee for two PMI Congresses in the Asia-Pacific region and has an on-going role with the organising committees for the PMOZ conference in Australia, PM Asia and World Project Management Week.
